Your wedding day is going to be filled with thousands of special little moments of love, excitement and joy; my aim as a wedding photographer is to make sure I capture as many of these as possible in order to preserve your happy memories. It is important to me that the bride, groom and all their guests are at ease around me and the camera so I take a relaxed approach in my style aiming for more candid shots when we get those beautiful moments of true laughter, affection and natural smiles!
